

BASIC CONTABLE TRAINING

Training Areas

Use of Force encompasses a number of skills including the use of firearms, defensive tactics, and officer safety. This training emphasizes judgment, theory, legal requirements, safety and practical proficiency.

Applied Police Learning has a strong academic component as well as scenario training. Recruits are taught Criminal and Provincial Laws, diversity sensitivity, ethics and apply them in life-like settings.

Police Vehicle Operations (PVO) combines technical driver training with judgment training in areas like suspect apprehension pursuits and vehicle stops.

Police Physical Training and Drill Instruction are important areas in developing fitness, discipline, self-awareness, confidence and life-style choices.

All areas are integrated and interdependent building on each other from the first day of a new intake until the graduation.
