

Ontario Police Services – Steps for Recruitment

Step 4

Stage Four - Final Selection Review Phase All of the information collected from the previous stages of the selection process is reviewed and compared to the selection criteria. A conditional offer of employment may be made to qualified applicants. This offer will be conditional on a medical examination. Successful candidates will be required to undergo a probationary period, and complete all mandated training. The successful completion of any phase of this process does not guarantee proceeding to the next phase. Upon being selected and signing a job offer the applicant must be willing to go on training at the Ontario Police College in Aylmer, Ontario for a period of 13 weeks.
